WEDNESDAY MORNING, MAR. 30, 1882

Prospects of the Territory.

The lines still continuing down and telegraphic communication with both East and West thus temporarily interrupted, we deem this a favorable opportunity for offering to our readers a few remarks upon the probable (and we may add) certain future of this Territory.

That the entire Territory abounds in mineral wealth has been made by repeated analysis of specimens brought in by various prospecting parties in different parts of the Territory, so manifest as to be now beyond a peradventure. That miners and the attendant influx of population will swarm over the face of the country during the ensuing season, is as certain as that effect follows cause, and that it behooves the community to be up and doing that the incoming population may not secure everything in advance, is a very natural sequence.

The days of isolation from any but the most meagre communication with the outer world are happily past, and the time fast approaching when we shall here in Utah be forced by circumstances to recognize fully and fairly our dependence not only upon the Government of which we do and must form an integral part, but also our amenability to the well established opinions of Christendom at large; and lest the disruption of prejudices implanted by unreasoning and quasi religious partizanship might be so sudden as to become dangerous (like an overcharged piece by the recoil,) it is manifestly the duty of such as have influence in the community and every part of it, to give heed to the signs of the times as well as to prepare the minds of the people therefor. In this way when another (and certainly, a very large) element of population shall have been superadded to our present numbers—the old and the new inhabitants instead of looking on each other as antagonistic from the start, and thus incurring the danger of becoming really inimical, the one to the other, in the end—will co-operate harmoniously, each in its proper sphere, and both working together for their own best interests, which concurring in this instance for the thorough development of the resources of this Territory, must immediately operate to the benefit of every man, woman and child, throughout its entire extent.

We know of no greater mistake, than the opinion, which a considerable intercourse with all classes in this Territory leads us to know to be the belief of a great majority of the less enlightened portion of the present population, viz: that the influx of miners must necessarily be injurious to the farmers and others of Utah. We would ask any candid person entertaining such belief to put to himself the question distinctly, in what way is this injury to be wrought? Is it by enhancing the price of the products of the farm? Surely that is a benefit to the farmer, and not alone, to him, but to the entire population, inasmuch as the necessary abundance of money resulting from the labor of the miners must more than counterbalance such enhanced prices. Let such a person compare the amount of money now in active and tangible circulation with the amount to be seen in Utah in the Spring of '62; and if the neighboring mines of Idaho together with the presence of a small command of troops in our midst, have already done so much toward ameliorating the condition of the people in this respect—how much more benefit is not to be expected when the canons and gulches of the West Mountain and Vedette districts shall all resound to the pick and shovel of the miner—to the sullen crash of the ponderous stamps and the bustle of a teeming population?

All this is before us, and sure to come in the course of a very little time. If we are prepared for it, so much the better; if not the fault shall not lie with us, and we are free to say that it shall be by us esteemed no misfortune, but on the contrary, directly the reverse, should that independent and self-relying intellect (given to man for his own guidance) be so awakened as to enable the people at large to examine and see themselves that the outer world (as it is the phrase here to term christendom!) is not hostile to the people of this valley, nor to any of their tenets which do not conflict with right, reason or that universally recognized Common Law, which, as Blackstone justly defines it, is the perfection of reason.

The coming summer will tell the tale, (if not fully) at least partially, and we wish here to leave on record these few words of warning, founded upon simple and plain common sense.

The officers and enlisted men of this command, for whose benefit this paper was first commenced, as well as the community at large (among whom it has already become quite an institution,) will be pleased to know that upon striking a balance sheet of its operations, the result has been found highly favorable, and encourages the originators of the enterprise to go on improving the VEDETTE in such proportion as the wants of the community may from time to time require.

It will be remembered that we commenced the publication of this journal as a weekly; but as it seemed utterly inadequate to the wants of such a community as that of Salt Lake City alone, (not to speak of the entire Territory and the country dependent thereon,) we determined promptly to face the risk by publishing the VEDETTE as a daily paper.

It will be borne, however, carefully in mind that the paper was not started, is not carried on and will not be continued for the sake of gain, but from the more noble and glorious purpose of issuing in this community an organ devoted to the Union as against native secessionists and foreign ill wishers to the holy cause of human freedom, in which our Government is now engaged, as well as for the further purpose of giving to every individual in the Territory or elsewhere, a full opportunity of bringing before the community whatever he may deem desirable for his own interests or those of the public, and we are exceedingly misinformed if there be elsewhere any place where the English language is spoken, in which such an organ is more needed.

BENEFITS OF ADVERTISING IN THE VEDETTE.

On Monday morning we inserted in the VEDETTE an advertisement from a gentleman of this city for a female servant, and a little after noon of the same day received from him the following note:

SALT LAKE CITY, March 28th.

"Take out my 'Help'—and, if you don't want me overrun with girls, (a string of applicants extending up the Plaza is now bending towards my house) stop the infernal thing."

Comment on the above is needless, as it would be impossible to show more thoroughly by words and arguments, how great is the circulation of our paper, or how numerous its readers in this community.

CURIOUS DETECTION OF A CRIMINAL.

There occurred in Prussia one of those cases of detection of crime by scientific means, which interests a large quantity of readers. A large quantity of gold packed in boxes, was dispatched by a railway train. On arrival at its destination, it was discovered that the gold had been stolen from some of the boxes, which were refilled with sand, to make up the deficient weight. Measures were taken at once for the discovery of the thief, and that no chance might be lost, Prof. Ehrenberg was requested to make a microscopic examination of the sand. The Professor, who is a member of the Academy of sciences at Berlin, well known for his researches into minute objects, and his comparisons of volcanic dust from all parts of the world, asked that a quantity of sand from every station by which the train had past be sent him. Examining these one after another, he at last came to a sand which was identical with that found in the boxes. The name of the station from whence this sand had been taken was known; inquiries were set on foot at that station, and among the persons there employed, the thief was detected. The incident is one which an expert novel writer might make use of with great effect.

CIRCULAR.

BRETHREN AND SISTERS: Being true believers in the Divine Mission and calling of Joseph Smith the Martyr, having perfect faith and unbounded confidence in the Book of Mormon as containing the fulness of the Gospel of Jesus, in the revelations of God contained in the Book of Doctrine and Covenants; realizing that in those Books, as also in the Bible, the law of the Lord is plainly set forth, accepting those doctrines as emanating from the Almighty, by obedience to which the human family may attain eternal life, enter into the fulness of the Father, and receive celestial glory; and being denied the privilege of advocating those pure principles in your Halls and public places of assembly, we, by permission through the columns of the VEDETTE, desire in plainness and sincerity to call your attention to matters pertaining to your welfare and eternal salvation.

You are, each and every one of you, fully aware that for the past twenty years, since the death of Joseph and Hyrum, martyred for the truth's sake, the welcome, joyous sound, "thus saith the Lord," hath not, as in days before, revealing the mind and will of God, saluted your ears; that the Heavens have been closed, that the Revelations of Jesus Christ, by which the Church has been guided day by day, have ceased to be extended unto you, and in lieu thereof contrary to the will of God, who gave those Revelations, that man should not counsel his fellow man, nor put his trust in the arm of flesh, (Doc. and Cov., Sec. 1, Par. 4), the continual exhortation of those who have assumed the watchcare over you is reiterated, from time to time; obey counsel and all will be well!! Thus have you been lulled onward and onward in fancied security, sleeping the sleep of death, from which if you awake not, you will be led down to everlasting destruction.

We would ask you, as you have heretofore asked the Sectarial world: Is the canon of Scripture closed? Is the God we worship a changeable God? or is he the same yesterday, to-day and forever? Where, we ask you, are the gifts and blessings of the Gospel of Jesus once so highly prized, which were to continue with the Church until the day of perfection? Where your meetings at which you were wont to pour forth the fulness of your souls in gratitude to God for all his blessings? Where the rich enjoyment of the Holy Spirit you once possessed? Where the day of miracles, when by the prayer of faith your sick were healed? Daily and hourly have all these receded from your view, and instead of to-day being in the full blaze of gospel light and liberty, after years have passed away, you mourn and pine for days of spiritual enjoyment, such as you experienced when first you embraced the Gospel.

You have been taught to set aside the word of God as a thing of naught; placing the precious Revelations of Jesus cotemporary with a last year's almanac—the sweet foretaste of Heavenly joys and blessings you were made partakers of in the day when you first embraced and complied with the requirements of Jesus, adopting you into His Kingdom, is no longer enjoyed; and instead of increasing in virtue, holiness, and upright walk, and conversation, before God; instead of calling upon Him continually in solemn assemblies in spirit, and step by step, day by day, and hour by hour, approximating nearer to Him, rejoicing together, continuing as you began, you have made the theater and dance house your places of worship, and become lovers of pleasure rather than lovers of God.

You have been taught to become idolaters, to worship Adam or Michael the 7th Angel, as the only God with whom you have to do, (an emanation from Mahomet who taught the same doctrine) you have forgotten the Lord your God who created Adam, and who in the thunders on Mount Sinai, said, "I, the Lord thy God am a jealous God: Thou shalt have none other Gods but me."

You have been taught in years gone by, to look forward with joyful anticipation to the coming forth of Joseph, the oldest son of Joseph the martyr, to lead the Church of God. But since the announcement of Joseph, that he, in compliance with the will of God has assumed that position, you now are taught that David is the chosen one to Head the Church.

We do declare in solemnity, that Joseph Smith, the son of Joseph the martyr, called of God, as was his father, presides over the Church of Jesus Christ as Prophet, Seer, Revelator, and Translator; that Alexander, and David his brother, are with him in faith, preaching the Gospel and bearing testimony to his Divine calling and mission.

Brethren and Sisters be of good cheer; the day star of Gospel liberty has arisen in the East; the voice of God is again heard through his Prophet, proclaiming that the day of your redemption is near. In the name of Jesus Christ we call upon you to arise and shake off your slumber; to stand forth in the dignity and manhood that belongeth to the Sons of God, calling in mighty faith upon His name, that you may rejoice in the rich blessings of the Gospel of Jesus; whose arm is once more extended for your salvation; who calls upon you to repent and forsake all unrighteousness that you may be saved in His Kingdom.

E. C. BRIGGS, Missionary.

THE DEVIL'S COFFEE-MILL. BY B. F. TAYLOR, the correspondent of the Chicago Journal with the army of the Cumberland, writes on the 9th:

Did you ever see one of the Devil's Coffee-mills? Well, I saw ten of them to-day, like the immemorial blacksmith, "all in a row." I refer, of course, to the "Union Repeating Gun" invented by a man who once hailed from Illinois, but now dates from Dixie—an implement that might do tremendous execution in skirmishing were it not as liable to get out of order as a baby's watch. Imagine a big rifle mounted upon a light pair of wheels, and swung easily upon an arc of a circle by a lever under the gunners left arm, so as to sweep the rascals like a broom. Imagine a coffee-mill hopper, where the lock ought to be, and a crank to match. Then here is a little copper box fitting the cartridges, and it into the hopper and the thing is ready for business. The gunner seats himself comfortably behind the gun, elevates or depresses it with a tooth, and takes sight. Before his face as he sits, and attached to the gun barrel, is a steel shield about the shape of an overgrown shovel and inclined a little towards the miller, so that a shot aimed affectionately at his head, glances up and flies harmlessly away. Through the center of this shield is a narrow slit—a la Moniter-turret—which enables him to take sight.

Now, all things ready, the diabolical grist of bullets in the hopper, the gunner—if he is a gunner—with the rudder under his left arm, turns the crank with his right hand, and the play begins. I saw one of them work; it was tick, tick, sixty to the minute, as fast as you could think; no brisk little French clock ever beat faster. When the barrel gets hot, there is another in the chest; when the grist are all out and the battle over, you pack the whole affair in a sort of traveling trunk, slip in a pair of shafts, with a horse between them, in a twinkling, and trundle it off as lightly as the cart of a Bowery butcher boy. But soldiers do not fancy it. Even if it were not liable to derangement, it is so foreign to the old familiar action of battle—that sitting behind a steel "blinder" and turning a crank is—that enthusiasm dies out; there is no full play to the pulses; it does not seem like soldiers' work.

It is one of the most singular coincidences of the war, that Colonel Straight, for whom John Morgan was held as a hostage, should have escaped from prison at Richmond in precisely the same manner as Morgan got away from Columbus.

Nearly thirty thousand people attended the funeral of the late King of Denmark. His coffin weighed three thousand pounds, and thirty men tagged for an hour and a quarter to get it down stairs.

Lincoln, the Soldiers' Choice.

DEAN BARRACKS, Cal.
March 10, 1864.

Editors Aize: As the Union State Convention will assemble in a few days, I have taken the trouble to get a fair, free and voluntary expression of choice for the next Presidency from the officers and soldiers stationed at this post. A voting list was circulated, headed with the names of Lincoln, Chase, Seward, Grant, and "Scattering," and was signed by nearly the entire strength of the command now here, composed of the Fourth Infantry and First Cavalry, California Volunteers. The result was 218 signatures—116 of them being for Lincoln, and one each for Seward and McClellan.

Respectfully yours,

S. F. FREDD,

Surgeon 4th Inf., Cal. Vols. U. S. A.

A HEROIC RECORD.—A western journal, in commenting on the bravery of Pilot Allen, of the Von Phul, who remained at his post, though the captain and another person were killed in the wheel-house near him, says:

"In fact, to my certain knowledge, not a pilot of the Mississippi Association of Pilots, naval or acting in a civil capacity, has ever yet deserted his wheel in the hour of danger. All honor to the brave few for it. They are in the most exposed, but at the same time most important position on the steamer. Let one pilot drop his wheel, and sure destruction awaits passengers, officers, crew and steamer. The boat would float right into the jaws of death but for the guidance of his eye and sure hand.

The St. Louis Republican of the 9th inst., editorially refers to the connection of General Grant's name with the Presidency, and with an air of authority says: "General Grant is not going to give himself much trouble concerning these movements of politicians. It is not to his taste. His intention is to close the war as soon as possible, and he wants to be foot-loose, not hampered by political entanglements. He asks no other duty now. He is not, and will not be, a candidate for the Presidency at the forthcoming election, and politicians may trim their sails accordingly.

The Richmond Examiner of December 19th appears to be coming to a true sense of the condition of the Confederacy. It says:

"The adjective 'Confederacy,' as applied to the various make shifts rendered necessary by the war, is quite the reverse of complimentary. Confederate coffee is roasted rye; Confederate paper is scarcely fit for wrapping parcels; Confederate swords are as harmless as if they were made of lead; Confederate notes are treated as if they were of no more value than candle lighters."

PLAIN ENOUGH.—Gen. Gantt, of Arkansas, said in a late speech at the Cooper Institute, New York:

"While we who are so much interested pray for deliverance from this curse (slavery,) there is a sneaking party in the North who would force us to keep this curse with us." Again he remarks, "I believe this war nearly ended. I believe if certain men in the North will stop talking about peace and conservatism, and use every effort in support of the war, that the rebellion would be so pushed as to collapse by spring time."

The act passed by the New York Legislature for submitting the question of soldiers voting to the people at a special election to be held on the second Tuesday of March, has been signed by the Governor to become a law.

A JOY MILLER.—A man received 20 lashes, well laid on, at the whipping post in an English town. The culprit, instead of bellowing when the constable applied the lash, laughed immoderately, which made the angry officer lay on with harder force. On giving him the twentieth blow, the enraged officer could stand it no longer. "Well, here, mister," said the offended officer, "I've done my duty, and I can't lick you no more, but I'd just like to know what it is that's so funny?" "Funny," roared the other, "why its excellent. You've got the wrong Smith. I ain't the man that was to be whipped; it's the other one. You'll have it all to do over again. Ha! ha!"

France is the home of suicide. There were 4,500 self-deaths in that country in 1860, the annual number being increased from 1,542 in 1827. Suicide prevails more among men than among women, and increases up to the age of 40 to 50. The crime also increases during the first half of the year—January to June—and decreases then till December. This would indicate that it had much to do with the payment of the annual bills. Drowning and hanging are the means most frequently employed, two-thirds of the persons who commit suicide having recourse to them. Next comes fire-arms, and then suffocation by charcoal.

The surgeons examined Thackeray's brain after death. It was found to weigh 58½ ounces—far above the average of that of ordinary men. The great naturalist, Cuvier's brain weighed 60 ounces; that of the French surgeon Dupuytren, 58 ounces; Napoleon's and Webster's a little less. The average weight of the brain is about 48 ounces in man, and 45 in women. The maximum weight 64 ounces, minimum 31. The brain of the idiot often weighs as little as 20 ounces. The brain of a whale 75 feet long, is little more than twice the weight of a man's.

Hans had been told that he spoke English like a native and he believed it; and he once illustrated as follows: "Dere was sex of us altogether, unt dey vas all Americans but one, and you couldn't dell de von dat vas not de Americans. Now vat people you tinks I am?" "Oh, you are an American, of course." "Ha! ha! dat's de vay I vools de beoples. I vas a Yerman!"

At Gettysburg 28,000 muskets were taken. Of these, 24,000 were found to be loaded, 12,000 containing two loads, and 6,000 from three to ten loads each. In many instances half a dozen balls were driven in on a single charge of powder. In some cases the former possessor had reversed the usual order, placing the ball at the bottom of the barrel and the powder on top.

A requisition was made lately on the Government for boots for the colored regiment in camp at Quincy, Illinois. The sizes were so enormous that they could not be procured at Chicago, and the agent had to telegraph to Washington, so that the boots could be constructed there. The sizes range from tens to twenties. This regiment will be likely to "trample on the rights of the South."

BEAUREGARD.—On the 6th of February, Gen. P. G. T. Beauregard, through his agent, paid his United States tax on property in Memphis, Tennessee, amounting to over one hundred dollars. This clearly indicates that, even if he has faith in the establishment of a Southern Confederacy, he has no hopes that Tennessee will constitute a portion of it.

ON HAY RATIONS. In view of the high price of hay and barley, and the continued Gen. Wright some days since, says the Despatch, is restricting the distribution of forage to Government animals at all posts in California to half the usual allowance, until further orders. The change in the weather had already made a decided change for the better in the prices of provisions and forage, and the prospects of our State, and it is probable the order will be countermanded within a few days.

A RESORT. In a speech in the House of Representatives, a few days since, Fernando Wood, with sublime assurance, declared: "We of New York sent fourteen regiments into Pennsylvania when she was invaded." "We of New York?" A witty Pennsylvania member replied, sotto voce, "Yes you did, Fernando—the muskets that you sent to Georgia when the war broke out came back to Pennsylvania at Gettysburg. Fourteen regiments of your friends, and more, brought them!"

An old Revolutionary soldier, when he was told by an English tourist in this country, that the celebration of the Fourth of July would soon be extinct, answered: "See here stranger, don't talk that way. I tell you when the Resurrection day comes around, the first thing done in the morning will be to read the Declaration of Independence!"

By-Laws of West Mountain Quartz Mining District.

[Passed September 17th, 1863.]
At a meeting of the quartz miners of West Mountain Quartz Mining District, held at Jordan Ward House, Salt Lake Valley, on the 17th day of September, 1863, the following By-Laws were passed:

Article 1st. This district shall include that portion of territory situated in the Territory of Utah, and bounded as follows: Commencing at the confluence of the river Jordan with Great Salt Lake; and running thence in a southerly direction along the east bank of said river Jordan to its point of exit from Lake Utah; thence along the west margin of said lake to the 40th deg. of north lat.; thence along said 40th deg. of north lat. to the 114th deg. of west long. (Greenwich); thence along said 114th deg. of west long. to the 41st deg. of north lat. thence along said 41st deg. of north lat. to Great Salt Lake; thence along the margin of said lake, in a southerly direction, to the place of beginning.

Article 2nd. The extent of a claim on any quartz lode or vein, shall be two hundred feet to the claim, with all its dips, angles and variations.

Article 3rd. No person will be permitted to hold more than one claim by location, on any one vein; by purchase, any number of shares can be held.

Article 4th. All claims located must have a notice posted upon them, stating the number of shares, and the probable course claimed, and also recorded in the books of the District Recorder, within ten days after location.

Article 5th. Each company must do one faithful days work on their claim each month, after the 1st day of April, 1864; on the failure to do so the claim will be jumpable; provided, however, that if the company are prevented by local insurrection or rebellion from working, a failure to do so will not forfeit their claim.
